Biomedical Sciences

LEUNG Sum Yin, Valerie
Biomedical Sciences, Year 2 Student

My gratitude goes to all, from my family to friends, for their tremendous encouragement and support, allowing me to dedicate time and efforts to my studies. To the respectful professors and lecturers, I would like to express my heartiest gratitude. I learnt so much by just observing your dedication and commitment to your profession.

Learning is a process of catabolism and anabolism. Catabolic in a way that you digest every piece of information obtained from textbooks and lectures, then anabolise by articulating those bits and pieces into your own body of knowledge. I grasp every opportunity to learn from classes and experiences that could expand my capacity.

I am glad that my journey embarked here. I will ensure that this is just the beginning, and I will continue to dedicate myself to biomedical research.

Chinese Medicine

TAM Ting Wai
Chinese Medicine, Year 6 Student

I would like to express my greatest gratitude to all the teachers for their passion in teaching, especially when all of us have been facing unpredictable and unprecedented challenges in the past year. I would also like to thank the Faculty, School and the donors who demonstrated their incredible care for the students. My 6-year learning journey was memorable and filled with joy. A series of fortuitous circumstances provided opportunities for me to meet a lot of nice people. They have not only taught me professional knowledge but also inspired me. Time takes something away from me but also brings something to me. I will dedicate myself to the medical field in the future.

Nursing

CHOW Yuet Lam Caroline
Nursing, Year 4 Student

My journey at CUHK nursing has been truly enjoyable and rewarding. Not only have I learned skills and knowledge to be a professional nurse, but also an empathic heart to understand patients' pain and sorrow. Despite the unprecedented uncertainties and challenges COVID brings, our school continues to strive for excellence and spare no effort to ensure the quality of our learning experience. Words alone cannot express my gratitude to all teachers and staff members for their dedication and unfailing support. I would also like to extend my gratitude to my family and friends who have accompanied me through thick and thin. All this would not have been possible without them, and I would like to dedicate this achievement to them.

It is my honour to be nurtured in the School of Pharmacy that has transformed me from a pharmacy student to a pharmacist. In these years, I have been so grateful that my family and friends supported me in my tough days while shared the joy with me throughout my learning journey. I would also like to take the opportunity to express my gratitude to the professors and lecturers who have been my Beacon of Light and made my learning experience fruitful. When I set off my endeavour to the pharmacy career ahead of me, I will always bear in mind to serve the needy with love and uphold holistic patient care.

Public Health

MOK Ho Yi
Public Health, Year 4 Student

It is my honour to be nominated by the JC School of Public Health and Primary Care. The past years were undeniably challenging; hence I am particularly thankful for the support from the welcoming teachers and staff of the School. Without them, I could not imagine how I would have thrived in my study under the turmoil and pandemic. I am also grateful for the ample opportunities, as well as the flexibility offered by the School and the Public Health programme, which allowed me to explore my capabilities and advance in pursuits beyond the major curriculum.

Last but certainly not the least, I would like to give a special thanks to my mother, for her unconditional love and support.
